Comfortable Corn

A FELLOW likes corn—It's a comfortable food, and when there's a corn dish for dinner there's no danger of getting anything slipped over on you—strange foods that you don't like. It makes for comfort, too, for growing youngsters who need plenty of vitality to "track through the woods, to sail boats, play tennis, and do all those things which summers were made for.

Corn bread in its various forms —corn fingers, corn muffins, etc. —are good noonday breads for people who need energy. For the evening meal, if you wish to serve corn in a lighter form, try it as a meat substitute with nuts for your main dish, or serve a delectable corn salad that looks tempting and colorful. Whole grain corn in cans is most adaptable for salads while cream style corn is better for corn fritters, corn bread, etc.

Strength for Hot Weather

Here are some tested recipes that are particularly appealing for these summer days:

Corn and Walnut Loaf: Drain the contents of a No. 2 can of whole grain corn and run the corn through a food chopper. Add one-half cup of chopped walnuts, two beaten eggs, one-half cup milk and one-half cup crumbs. Season with salt and pepper. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake for forty-five minutes in a moderate oven—375 degrees. Serve with tomato sauce. This serves four persons.

Maybe the chicken experts won't see this and marvel at my ignorance. Being the son of a Baptist minister most of my poultry experience concerns after they reach the dinner plate. I omy mouth fell open this morning when "Rube" Hudgins told us that he had a poultry expert from Blacksburgwith wjth him and they were going out to vaccinate chickens against chicken pox. (Yeah, but don't tell me no one but Germans have germs meaning). That's one job I wouldn't want, vaccinating chickens, but wg expect someday to have somebody to take the in- our columns— "Our chicken salad is made from vaccinated chickens. Gee, and maybe they'll put glasses on hogs someday. I'm really a backward citizen.

If Appomattox men are a truthful lot, and can say they aren't then the ABC stores aren't getting much business from our town. Have put the question, "Have you ever been in an ABC store?" to about two dozen around town, at random this week, and by heck, all but one came back with "No."

Several of the nation's "big men" state that they will support Roosevelt when he is right and oppose him when he is wrong. That usually means, of course, by "right" when Roosevelt thinks the way THEY do, and by "wrong" when we thinks differently. Now, methinks there ain't no certain way of telling when a president is right or wrong. You can't candle him like an egg.

"MISS APPOMATTOX" IS "MRS" FROM NOW ON

Miss Rachel Dickerson, selected as "Miss Appomattox" in a beauty show here recently, became the bride of Homer Babcock this morning.

BABCOCK-DICKERSON

Miss Rachel Dickerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dickerson, of Spout Spring and Homer Curtis Babcock, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Babcock, of Appomattox, were married this morning at 10:30 at the home of the bride's parents.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. H. Humphrey, pastor of the Methodist church, in the presence of members of the immediate families.

The house was artistically decorated with fall flowers and white candles. The bride was attired in a brown tailored suit, with matching accessories.

After a wedding trip they will make their home at Appomattox.

CHEATHAM-HEDRICK

Miss Phoebe Hedrick and Eldridge Wardell Cheatham were married September 1, at Toano, Virginia.

He is formerly of Spout Sprin.

To Have Play Here For Benefit of Meth. Church

Sears Appointed

Robert Sears, son of E. P. Sears of Pamplin, has gone to Charlotte county, where he will have charge of 4-H club work.

Mr. Sears graduated last June in agronomy at V. P. I.

IN BRIEF

It is reported here that Jesse and Frank Mayberry, of Evergreen, were hurt in an automobile accident in Richmond last Sunday.

The next term of the circuit court will convene here October 1.

"Black Eyed Susan", a royalty play, will be presented at the local high school auditorium on October 2, by local talent under the direction of the Wayne P. Sewell Co., of Atlanta.

The play will bestarged for the benefit of the building fund of the Memorial Methodist, according to an announcement made this morning by Mrs. W. L. Ould.

A director from the Sewell Co. has been here today and will immediately assemble a cast and begin rehearsals.

The Sewell Co. has staged plays here before and the quality of their productions is well known. There is plenty of local talent to guarantee a polished performance. A feature of the entertainment will be several children's and musical numbers.

BUCKINGHAM

Mrs. Charlie Clay is still improving and it is hoped that she will soon be out again.

Miss Elizabeth S. Hall expects to graduate this term at Flora Mc-Donald College, where she is specializing in music, mathematics and language.

T. B. Hall took Misses Elizabeth and Ruth Hall and Miss Elizabeth P. Hall to Red Springs by car.

Killed In Accident Last Fri.

Rose Released On $1,000 Baif For Appearance At Hearing

Junius Dungee, colored, was instantly killed, and Edward Flowers, also colored, received a broken arm and bad gashes, in an automobile tragedy at Spout Spring last Friday night at 7:30.

Sam hose, driver of a L. E. Lichford truck from Lynchburg, was released on $1,000 bail to appear here on September 28 before trial justice J. R. Horseley on charges growing from the accident.

According to reports reaching this paper, the two colored men were walking, allegedly on the dirt on the left side of the highway just west of Spout Spring, when they were hit by a careening truck.

It is claimed that the truck did not stop, making it a hit and run offense. Rose was later arrested by officers and charged with the accident.

Dungee's skull was frightfully crushed and his body mangled. He probably never knew what struck him.

CHEST CLINIC

There will be a free chest clinic here at the court house on October 8, it was announced today. A specialist from the state department will be here.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETIES TO HAVE CLASS

The Woman's Missionary Societies of the Lynchburg Methodist district will hold their annual coaching class Thursday, September 27, at Memorial Methodist church, beginning at 10 A. M. and continuing the day. Lunch will be served at the church.

WATT STANLEY IS CUP WINNER AT CREWE

Watt Stanley went to Crewe yesterday to take part in an invitation golf tournament and he came back last night with a handsome silver loving cup for winning medal score. He shot an 82, but had a handicap of 7, giving him a score of 75 for 18 holes and that the best score among the seventy five entries from Southside Virginia golf clubs. Ned Hancock, also from Appomattox was not far behind the winner, with a fine 78. Those playing from here were: Watt Stanley, Ned Hancock, Charlie Hanenkrat, C. H. Swing, Harold Spencer, Paul Drinkard, Linwood Cannon, and R. W. Wilkins.

Vet Dies

Robert Manley Watson, 34,former general sales manager of the Colgate, Palmolive Peet Company, and World War veteran three times cited for bravery in action, died last week in a Miami, Florida hospital. Mr. Watson retired as sales manager of his company in 1931, following a nervous breakdown and had resided in Miami for 3 hrs. years, going there from Baltimore.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Rheda E. Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Drinkard, of Appomattox county, and one son, Robert Manley, Jr.

Mr. Watson enlisted as a bugler with the third army corps on March 27, 1917, in Baltimore. He went overseas and subsequently was promoted to second, and then to first lieutenant. He was cited for bravery in the Battle of the Marne and also in the Aisne offense on August 4 and on September 16, 1917. Once again he was cited for bravery in the Argonne offensive on October 3, 1918 and was awarded the Croix de Guerre by the French government. Following his honorable discharge on July 18, 1919, he was awarded the Congressional Medal. Following the war he joined the Colgate, Palmolive Peet Company, as division sales manager, and in 1929 he was made general sales manager.

He was a member of the American Legion and of the Episcopal church. The body was sent from Miami to Baltimore for interment.

Quarterly Conference Held Here

The fourth quarterly conference was held at the Memorial Methodist church here last night. Dr. T. R. Reeves was present.

The members of the official board of the church were reelected to serve for another year, as well as were he members of the board of Christian education.

Better Breakfasts

DING-a-ling-a-ling-ge! You've guessed it. It's the alarm clock with its tireless habit, cue of morning performance. You can look it square in the face, rest and stretch and yawn for ten minutes or so longer, if you've made out your breakfast menu the day before. Plan something that is quick to prepare, but very delicious.

Here is a menu that will give you that good-to-be-alive feeling:

Watermelon Cubes
Cereal with Cream
Grilled Country Ham
Yum Yum Muffins Coffee

Yum Yum Muffins: Break stale bread into enough small pieces to fill two cups; soak for ten minutes in one and one-fourth cups of hot diluted evaporated milk. Add two well-beaten eggs. Add the following sifted dry ingredients: one cup flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt and four tablespoons sugar. Then add two tablespoons of melted butter. Pour into well-greased muffin tins and drop a bit of firm jelly in the center of each. Bake in a hot oven—400 degrees—for about twenty-five minutes. This makes twelve muffins. If you prefer these muffins plain, just omit the jelly, and serve them hot with honey or preserves.

And remember that breakfast coffee is perhaps the most important coffee of the day. See that it is vacuum packed so that it has that fresh roasted smell and full flavor when you take it from the can.

Must Apply In Person Here For Allotments Before Sell

There was a time, a few of you may remember, when selling tobacco was a matter of rolling, not hauling it up and down the long hills to Lynchburg, and getting what you could for a smuch or as little as you could. That was the day of bustles, two hour sermons and of homespun.

Selling tobacco this year is going to be an entirely different "proposition," as Andy would say.

First, it appears that you have to have an "allotment." That's the amount of tobacco you are allowed to sell. Farmers who signed the government's contract will be given a quota from the county agent's office. The agent will notify them when to apply for their quota and will urge them not to apply until notified.

Incidently, Appomattox has the markings of one of the finest quality crops in many years. Appomattox tobacco is famous for its quality and is a favorite with buyers for that reason. R. B. Hudgins, county agent says the won't be surprised if the county won't have more tobacco that quoas. That will bring up a number of problems.

Prices on tobacco are expected to be good this year, better in fact than for some time. But this business of quotas . . . . . it will work out for the welfare and betterment of the industry . . . . . but it's a long step from the old time method . . . as is, for that matter, a textile strike a long step from making your own nether-garments from homespun.

Now, lets see, wherd we, ...oh yes, talking as best we could about quotas. You see, the government that the reason tobacco prices were so low that everything from the old homestead itself to the family silver was mortgaged, was because there simply was too much tobacco, production had to be cut. The AAA attempted that, and if you ask us, did a pretty good job. Farmers were invited to sign production control contracts. A fair figure was figured for all signers. And many farmers thus got paid for tobacco they agreed not to grow. (Regardless of what you think of the idea, that $13,000 helped plenty and it is reliably reported that Uncle Sam isn't anywhere near broke either).

As the direct result of this campaign, acreage was reduced to a figure nearer what the market could use. That's the big thing. It means better prices, and better prices mean better times for the farmer and the merchant, the baker, the candle-stick maker —AMERICA.

So much for the farmers who cooperated with the administration program by signing the contracts. They will be given their quotas and can take their tobacco to market and bring back the good prices it is slated to bring. If it develops, as is likely, that there is more tobacco than the quotas call for, then an attempt will be made, with every assurance of success, to swap surplus quotas about ,so that the signers can dispose of all their alloted acreage.

Now as to the non signers of the production control contracts. A limited allotment is available for tobacco not under government contract. And by applying for it, a part ff this limited allotment will be given non signers.

BUT—the rest of the tobacco sold by the non-signers must face a 25 cent tax.

That means nothing else but that the government will forcibly protect the farmers who cooperate in the AAA program and that farmers who didn't sign will be heavily penalized and won't take near as much for their crop as the farmers who did sign.

By the way,— the county agent states that not only should farmers not apply for their quotas until they are entitled to do so, but also that when they come for their quotas they must come in person and that landowners must bring their tenants with them.

Summing it all up— back in 1932 we elected a new administration and charged that administration to give us ACTION in fighting the spectre of depression and agricultural bankruptcy. The AAA is the answer to
